THURSDAY, NOV. 5, 1857. THE WATER-WORKS .- We mentioned a few days ago that the City Council had authorized the com missioners of the Sinking Fund to loan $20,000 to the Water Company on the city bonds. We regret to learn that on account of the present condition of the Sinking Fund, this resolution is unavailing to afford immediate relief to the Water Company without some further action. It is of pressing and almost vital importance to this great interest, that means to the amount of at least twenty thousand dollars should forthwith be placed at the disposal of the company. Contracts for the whole work have been let upon favorable terms, and all the different parts of the work are in rapid progress. The whole amount of the pipes and the cornish engines for the pump-house, will be completed before many months. The reservoir is in process of construction, and the work upon the foundations of the engine-house is being sedulously pushed forward. The completion of this work without a week's delay is just now of immense importance. The president and directors have endeavored to take advantage of the low stage of water to place it in such a state of forwardness as to be beyond the possibility of either injury or delay from high water. It is for this that the means are imperitively needed, and needed at once. Delay would be dangerous and perhaps fatal. Not only would the completion of the water-works be greatly retarded, and perhaps indefinitely postponed by high water, but the work now done on the foundations of the engine-house would be certainly damaged to a considerable extent and very probably en-

Thus a very great loss would be sustained by the Water Company, in which the city, in her corporate capacity, is almost the sole stockholder. Economy and expediency demand that measures should this work. Every citizen, rich and poor, is directly interested in its progress. Nothing should be allowed to interfere with its completion. No other claims can be proffered to the city government which demand such prompt attention. stand that the twenty thousand dollars proposed to be loaned for this purpose will be sufficient to place the work beyond any danger of delay and enable the company to proceed without interruption from high water. If this money is not in the sinking fund it is due to it by the city, and in this emergency the notes of the city for that amount, made payable when the collection of taxes have refilled coffers of the sinking fund, should be given to the Water Company for immediate use, and thus enable them to go on with the work at this important crisis in its progress. We have beed assured that such notes can be used in carrying on the work that requires the most immediate attention and we hope that our city fathers will not hesitate a moment in perfecting the good work they have so properly begun.

THE NATIONAL HOTEL.—Some very considerable alterations and improvements are now being made in the National Hotel, which will add very materially to its comfort and convenience. The office will hereafter be upon the first floor, rendering it much

The National is a first class hotel in every respect and, since it has been under the mana Messrs. Neal & Stealey, its prosperity has been very great, but not more than its general excellence warranted. Yesterday there were over one hundred arrivals at the National, and, though the daily throng of guests is large, such are the extensive accommo dations of the house that all are provided for comfortably and elegantly.

[For the Louisville Bulletin.] A BEAUTIFUL BIRD FROM THE ISLAND OF

A beautiful bird from the island of dreams Has furled in my bosom its wings, And a song of that isle, with its love-haunted streams, And its sky where the day-star of Poesy beams, This wondrous messenger sings

A magical cage, for this glorious bird, From a tissue of fancies I've wrought, And now its wild lays of enchantment are heard Where echoes each note, like a musical word, Through the shadowy chamber of Thought:

By Memory draped, with her tapestry spun From the threads of the past, for her loom Weaves pictures partaking of shadow and sun-Life pictures, that charm, as they drop one by one, Though the back-ground be shaded with gloom,

And lo! where this mystical tapestry waves, By the magic of Memory wrought, Rare gems doth she bring from her deep haunted caves, And with strange mosaics most cunningly paves se shadowy chambers of Thought

And every heart-jewel she brings from afar, From the echoing caverns of years, On these crystaline floors flashes forth like a star, Though oft in their midst is some delicate spar That has grown 'neath the dropping of tears.

For S rrow's dark raven has folded its wings. And sometimes I've heard its sad screams Where Memory all of her rich treasure brings And where, in the bright cage of Fancy, now sings This bird from the island of dreams

And thrilled with its breathings of woe, And Hope's healthful cheek lost its radiant bloom, For tears trickled down over Memory's loom With a silent and sorrowful flow.

But since this sweet minstrel has flown to my breast From his isle in the ocean of sleep, That raven has fled to its cold, murky nest And bright, hopeful dreams through the orient rest Of my song-haunted spirit now sweep.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE-PROF. PALMER'S INTRODUCTORY LEC-TURE.-We greatly regret that it was out of our power to hear the opening address of Professor Palmer at the University on Monday night, but a friend, in whose critical judgment we confide, has kindly furnished us with a brief outline of his own impression, which, however, warm and admiring as it is, scarcely equals the applause with which we hear the effort mentioned on every hand.

After a brief episode, devoted to a concise historical sketch of the University school, the Professor, says our friend, examined the various means and resource of the school for teaching medical science, from which he proceeded, by a natural transition, to the consideration of medical schools in this country generally. He thoroughly established the fact that the American student has as ample opportunities for the acquisition of medical knowledge in the first class schools of his own country as he can find in any school in Europe. This fact, a highly important one, by the way, he set forth in the strongest light. Another topic of interest and weight which the Professor touched with fine effect was the fact that medical schools are absolutely essential to the discipline and equipment of the medical practitioner. He discussed this point, as, indeed, every other, with remarkable clearness and felicity. The whole address was one of unusual beauty, power, and eloquence Many excellent judges present pronounced it the best effort of the kind they had ever heard.

None acquainted with the fullness, variety, and accuracy of Prof. Palmer's attainments, or with his impressive and kindling oratory, will question for a moment the justness of our friend's impression. At the close of the address, we understand, on the invitation of the Dean of the Faculty, the immense throng in attendance passed through the Library, Museum, and other rooms of the new University building, a grand and stately edifice, and inspected, as far as was practicable, the magnificent appliar with which the institution is furnished.

MARKETS-THE STALLS .- We are informed that a crying evil, long festering in our markets, is in a fair way to be remedied. It is true that all taxes on the necessaries of life are paid by the consumers. He who carries on the business only advances the tax or license to the city, which is repaid by tde profits on the business he does. In favor of the consumers of butchers' meat, vegetables, and other market arttcles, dealers in the maskets are required to pay neither a license or a tax.

The city builds the market houses and charges small quarterly rent for the stalls, and this is the only revenue the city draws from the market houses and this is the only tax paid by consumers for her

But now comes the evil. A butcher rents his stall, say for $100 or less per annum, and immediately sells it to another for $1,000, $1,200, or $1,500. This exorbitant rent for stalls hands the buyers over to the tender mercies of the butchers to reimburs themselves by extra prices and short weights and measures for these high rents. We are pleased to hear that the General Council will sustain the Mayor in suppressing the practice of underletting stalls in the markets at a profit to the butcher to be made good by exactions on the consumers of the city Hereafter the stalls will be rented by auction, on the 15th of April, and on proper days thereafter in each year, to the highest bidder, and no one will have the right to sell or underlease a stall for a profit, and no one will be permitted to own a stall not oc cupied by himself. This will cure the evil complained of, and the Council will keep the taxing power in the markets in their own hands and limit to a fair rent for the stalls and no more.

COUNTY LEVY .- The levy court has been in se sion during the present week. The rate of taxes for the ensuing year is higher than ever before, being $1 50 on every $100 worth of property. Even with this increase of taxation the county will be in debt at the close of the year over one thousand dol-lars. The city of Louisville, however, owes Jefferson county several thousand dollars.

After next Monday the afternoon train on the Nashville road will leave the Broadway depot at RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS

The mark at the head of the canal showed 4 feet inches water last evening. Boats drawing about 51/2 feet could have passed through it with but little difficulty. Last evening it commenced raining.

New Green River Packet Bracelet .- The trial trip which this steamer made yesterday was most suc cessful, and she is now at the wharf receiving freight for Green river, for which she is advertised to leave this evening.

The Bracelet is an out-and-out Louisville boat. having been built and furnished here, under the superintendence of Capt. Vanmeter, her commander. Her capacity for passengers as well as freight is more ample than that of any other boat now in the trade. Her cabins and staterooms are quite roomy for a boat of her class, and, though they exhibit no extra refinery, yet have everything necessary for comfort and are neatly furnished.

Her hull is very strongly built. Her engines are finely finished, and they are put up higher than usual on steamboats so as to occupy several feet less space, which gives more deckroom. She has also a doctor and a steam freight-hoister.

The following are the dimensions of the Bracelet: Hull-length 145 feet 8 inches, beam 30 feet, floor 28 feet, and depth of hold 6 feet. Machinery-engines 51/2 feet stroke, 18-inch cylinders, and 2 boilers, each 28 feet long and 40 inches in diameter. Wheels-26 feet in diameter and 5 feet buckets. Cabin-26 staterooms. She draws light 18 inches water forward and 24 inches aft. She can carry about 450 tons down stream.

The hull was built by Mr. Collins, the machinery by Glover & Co., and the cabin by Downes & Co. Mr. Porter did the painting, and Wright & Bridgeford did the sheet-iron work and also supplied stoves, cooking utensils, &c. Hite & Small furnished the carpets, Mr. Dickinson the upholstery, Crutcher & Steele and Walton & Barret the china, glass, and plated ware, and Hawley & Hatch the chandeliers.

Capt. Vanmeter and his clerk, Mr. Alfred Edwards, are favorably known in the Green river trade, and, with as good a boat as the Bracelet, will doubtless meet with success.

The Vicksburg for New Orleans .- This elegant new steamer will leave for New Orleans this evening without fail. We can guarantee travelers both luxurious accommodation and fare. Capt. Cannon is an experienced and careful boatman, and is attentive to the comfort of his passengers.

The Superior is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day and the Emma Dean is the Carrollton packet.

The J. B. Ford left for Pittsburg last night with 2,000 bbls flour, a lot of tobacco, and some other freight. She got 30 cents per bbl for the flour and 25 cents per hundred for tobacco.

Steamer Sunk .- On Friday last the steamer A. G Masoz, while descending the Upper Mississippi, struck a snag and sunk on Duck Creek Chain, Upper Rapids, a few miles above Davenport. The bow of the Mason lies in four feet water and her stern in twelve feet. She is damaged so badly that it is feared she will prove a total loss. Her freight will all be recovered in a damaged condition. The Mason was built at Pittsburg and cost $14,000. She is insured for two-thirds.

nati courts on Tuesday:

Two men, named Grizard and Richards, verbally cantracted with Capt. Bowers, clerk of the Gen'l Pike, for their passage and shipment of a quantity of freight to Keokuk for $80. It appears they afterwards bargained with the steamer Silver Wave to perform the same duty for $70, and were in the act of delivering their freight to the latter boat, when Capt. Fuller, of the Pike, attached their chattels, claiming his freight bill on the ground that they had previously contracted with him. It being proven that the party who bargained with the Pike did not own the freight, the Justice released the attachment. Capt. Fuller, however, claims damages from the defendants, having reserved rooms for their accommodation. The case will be heard this morning.

The first steamboat launch at Mound City near the mouth of the Ohio, is expected to come off this afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is to wind up with a ball in the evening.

About two hundred vards of the Cairo levee, or the Mississippi side of the town, have fallen into the river, and the current of the Mississippi river, setting directly in toward the town at that point, is se riously undermining the bank.

DEATH OF A REVOLUTIONARY HERO. - Mr. James Norton departed this life at the residence of Hiram Norton, in Nicholas county, Ky., on the 21st ult. at the advanced age of ninety-six years. He was a living witness of the scenes and events which, but for the written history of the age in which they transpired, must in a few years more be known only from tradition.

In early life Mr. Norton enlisted as a private sol dier in the ranks of the army of the United States, was present and took an active part in many of th battles of the Revolution, was at the siege of Yorktown, and witnessed the surrender of Cornwallis's forces to Gen. Washington. He likewise afterwards participated in the war with the Indians in the Northwest.

How few, alas! are the links in the living chain which connects the days of '76 with the present age-One by one the old soldiers have passed away, until now comparatively but a few more than a corporal's guard remain. In a few years more they will have all gone to their final rest. May their memories be ever revered.

A letter received at Washington from an emi nent English banker gives the opinion that the United States will recover from the present depression sooner than England did from the crisis of 1844-'5 and that financial matters in England will be im proved next winter by the suppression of the mutiny in India, which, he says, is certain to be effected by Christmas.

Here is a very striking observation very felici ously expressed:

Men's feelings are always purest and most glowing at the hour of meeting and farewell, like the glociers, which are transparent and ross-hued only at sunrise and sunser, but throughout the day gray and cold.

The telegraph mentions a tragedy which curred at Philadelphia yesterday.

A COUNTERFEITING PHOTOGRAPHER .- Henry M. | THE MONEY MARKET .- The Fourth of Novem Diggins a dagnerrean artist in Cincinnati, has been required to give bail to answer an indictment for photographing bills of the Northern Bank of Ken-

The principal witness against Diggins was Henry

Campbell, father of Archibald Campbell, arrested some time ago and lodged in jail in this city for passing counterfeit money. He testified that he took a letter to the daguerrean rooms of Henry M. Diggins, from his son, urging the brothers to raise noney to get him out of the scrape; that in the course of a conversation with Henry M., the latter said that the photographed bills were as good as half the money afloat, and as the banks were all cheating he did not thinkfit any harm to make the bills; that they could be made so as to pass in the banks. On his cross-examination, Campbell admitted that he had insisted upon the brothers raising $85 to get his son out of the scrape, and that he had told Henry M. that unless the money was forthcoming, he would have him arrested upon the charge which was subsequently made against both brothers.

SINGULAR INSANITY .- Mr. Francois Ange, a wealthy planter from Louisiana, passed through our city a day or two since en route for Europe, where his friends are taking him for the purpose, if possible, of dispelling a singular hallucination or species of insanity with which he is afflicted. Two years ago he took it into his head that his pedal extremities were paralyzed, and, although assured by eminent medical practitioners that his understandings are as firm and strong as they ever were, he insists upon being carried about like a child, and not even an alarm of fire in his residence could induce him to hazard a perpendicular position. It is said that he is perfectly sane upon all other matters.

Two counterfeiters, named Carper, and a third named John S. Carson, were arrested at Memphis on Saiurday. They were on a flat-boat. They had in their possession a number of counterfeit notes, consisting of twenties on the Bank of the State of Missouri, letter A., payable at Palmyra, engraving course, signatures of president and casher in writing; tens on the Merchants' Bank, State of Tennessee, payable at Nashville, letter A, signatures written; ones on the Northern Bank of Kenucky, very poor engraving, signatures lithographed, payable at Richmond.

METHODIST CHURCH AND SLAVERY .- The Holston conference of the Methodist Episcipal Church South, at its recent conference in Marion, Va., rescinded that clause in the Dircipline which prohibits the "buying and selling of men, women, and children for the purpose of enslaving them." The Knoxville Whig says there were over one hundred traveling preachers in the conference and only four voted against it. The proposition to be submitted to the twenty-three annual conferences, South, between this and the meeting of the General Conference in May next, which convenes in Nashville.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS .- Wednesday, November 4. Robert Gray, for destroying the furniture of Martha Barclay. Fined $300.

Wm. Browulee, for shooting at Bobert Burns on the day of election. Fined $50 and sentenced to 6 months' imprisonment in the county jail.

Thomas Gorman, for breaking the leg of a small egro boy by driving his dray over him. Fined $10. Alexander Patton, for an assault on Joseph Collins, was fined one cent.

THE HUCKSTERS .- We publish this morning the proclamation of Mayor Pilcher relative to the privileges of hucksters. It does away altogether with that class of marketers, a riddance long desired by our citizens. We trust that the officials will exert themselves to enforce the penalties of the law upon those violating it in this important matter.

DEATH OF MRS. MULCAHY .- We learn that Mrs. Mulcahy, who was shot by her husband some ten days since, died yesterday afternoon in great agony. The deed was perpetrated in a fit of passion caused by Mrs. M. for his dissipated habits. He is

Mr. Edward Cunningham, formerly of Frankfort, Ky , while hunting near Ripley, Tenn., on the 14th, accidently discharged his gun, shattering his skull and brains in a frightful manner, and killing him instantly. His family are in New Liberty, Kentucky.

There are at present one hundred and fifty persons in the St. Louis jail. The Mound City pretends to have double our population. She has four-fold the crime, wickedness, and distress.

MINNESOTA .- The latest report from Minnesota shows that Ramsey, Republican, is certainly elected Governor. His majority, according to corrected returns received at St. Paul to the 26th ult., is 694.

THE HOG MARKET .- The Cincinnati Price Current, of November 4, says:

rent, of November 4, says:

There has been little or nothing done this week. There are buyers of hogs for present delivery at $5, but owners seem unwilling to accept this rate just now, and are asking $5 50@$6. There are very few arriving, and none but those already contracted for. Two houses have commenced packing on contract hogs. There can be no doubt now that the season will be a late one, as owners will hold back to the last sooner than accept present prices.

BOURBON COUNTY COURT - STOCK SALES, &c. The monthly sales of stock came near a suspension on Monday. There were only a few hundred head of mules and cattle offered, fewer sold, and they at of mules and cattle onered, lever sold, and they at reduced prices.

The principal sales we noticed were 9 mules, 2 year olds, at $121 50; extra yearlings at $130; pair of mules at $350. Cattle—19 head of extra 3 year olds at $50 50; 29 do at $31 50; 2 year olds at $25 and under. Horses sold at $150 and under. We heard of contracts for hogs at $3 25.

Several thousand bushels of wheat were sold at 60 cents, though 65 and 70 were talked of.

At a large sale we attended in the country, on Thursday last, wheat sold at 69 cents, on a credit, and hogs at $4 04; saddle geldings as high as $259; brood mares for farm use at $149.

The money market on Monday was of course tight. Good paper offered at 3 per cent. a mouth.

Mr. Hibler, our principal auctioneer informs us that he made upwards of $2,600 during the last year, auctioning. His profits of court days, for the present at least, will be diminished.—Paris Flag.

ber, the day which is so much dreaded in n tile circles as one on which large amounts of paper mature, has passed, and so far as we are advised, all engagements have teen met or extensions have been granted.

We have no change to notice in the general tenor of the market, except that it is gradually tending to greater ease. The banks continue to sell sight exchange on New York when they have it at 2 premium and the brokers at 4 premium. New Orleans sight exchange may be quoted at par.

Some of the brokers are buying the notes of the Planters' Bank of Tennessee at 5 % cent. discount and those of the State Bank and Union Bank of Tennessee at 10 ? cent. discount. The sound ree banks of Tennessee can be sold at the same rate. Notes on the Indiana State Bank and Ohio State Bank (excepting those of the suspended branches) range from par to 1/4 % cent. discount, and notes of the sound Indiana free banks are redeemed at 3 % cent, discount.

The foreign news by the Canada is unfavorable. The bullion in the Bank of England had decreased nearly three millions of dollars and in the Bank of France seven millions of dollars.

A committee of the Indiana Legislature, appointed to investigate the charges of corruption made by Governor Wright in his message, in regard to the charter of the State Bank, have reported. They "pronounce the passage of the bill and the operations carried on under it—by disposing of the stock among those who assisted in passing the bill—a great fraud upon the people; and they recommend that the charter be repealed."

The New York Herald contains a table of the amount of specie received at New York and New Orleans during the month of October, from which it appears that at New York the importations as to $5,166,901, all from England, Havana, and California, and at New Orleans $1,584,000 from Havana, Vera Cruz, and Texas, besides $500,000 for the Sub-Treasury from Arkansas. At St. Louis $700,000 were received during the same time from the plains. The total amount reaches nearly $8,000,000 in October, and in addition over $1,000,000 in certificates of deposit from England, the value of which is equivalent to coin. The exports of coin during the same time have not been over $300,000.

From the 1st of September to the 14th of October nclusive, the day on which the New York banks suspended specie payments, the amount of notes of State banks returned and cancelled to the superintendent at Albany was $5,321,108. The stocks surrendered in exchange for these bank notes amounted to $3,656,957, and the bonds and mortgages to $732,262-the total amount of securities thus surrendered being $4,389,219.

The New York Herald, of Monday, says:

The money market is gradually working easier on first lass securities; loans are freely offered at 7 % cent, on call u State securities; but the banks are doing nothing in the ray of discounts.

THE "BREAD OR FIGHT" ORGANIZATION OF PHILADELPHIA -Another meeting of the German laborers of Philadelphia was held on Friday evening. The Philadelphia Inquirer says of it:

The meeting was a very large one. Several speeches were made.

The meeting was a very large one. Several speeches were made.

A series of resolutions were adopted, in substance asserting that the present deplorable state of affairs are attributable to the corruptions which pervade all ranks of society; that the innocent working classes, being the victims, should obtain relief at the hands of the guilty; that the true remedy is in the prosecution of our public works, in the manner indicated by Mayor Vaux, in his recent message, and similar measures are recommended to the General and State Governments. Organizations to assist disabled workmen are suggested, and the laboring men throughout the Union are urged to combine, and to pledge themselves to each other, that in future elections they will disregard party predilections, and support only such men as are honest and capable, and prepare to unite in securing a judicious revision of the tariff, a sound currency, the prohibition of the issue of small bills, and a liberal homestead bill for actual settlers.

to run over the Ten Broeck course:

A challenge has been wafted across the Atlantic for us to send a champion or two to meet the Columbians on their ground, "four miles and repeat at such time as may be agreed upon, post entries for $100,000, weight for age, over the Ten Broeck Course at Savannah." A liberal inducement is held out by the offer to allow 3 per cent. upon the money staked, or $5,000 to pay the expenses of the English horses in the event of their losing. We trust that the friendly feeling of our Yankee friends will be reciprocated, and that an English committee will be organized to carry on the proposed match. Surely Fisherman and Skirmisher would find the journey better answer their purpose than to remain at home.

A civil suit against Henry Bates, late Treasurer of State, and the sureties on his official bond, for the sum of $100,000, the amount of the bond, was tried in the Sacramento district court, last week, and resulted in a verdict against the bondsmen for the full amount.

The case of Bates against the Pacific Express Company has been continued until the next term of the district court. This suit was instituted for the recovery of $124,000, advanced to that firm for the payment of the July interest. Bates and Rowe, his deputy, are both still incarcerated in the prison-brig at Sacramento.

A Steamboat Newspaper.—Among other innovations which the mammoth steamer Great Eastern is about to inaugurate will be the publication of a daily paper on board for the benefit of the traveling public—the regular "public" of travelers—whom she may be bearing across the ocean. But this startling feature is anticipated on the western waters of the New World, for the New Orleans and St. Iouis packet steamer James E. Woodruff now sails equipped with the force and material for the publication of a regular daily paper on board during her trips up and down the river, with a job office attached for the printing of bills of fare and other work.

The past week failed to conclude the contest for The past week falled to conclude the contest in supremacy in the two tournaments, and the sittings will continue antil the middle of the present one. The third and fourth prizes in either tournay have been fought for and won as follows:

GRAND TOURNAY. 3d. Theodore Lichtenhein, Esq., of New York. 4th. B.J. Raphael, M. D., of Kentucky. OR THE OTHER MINOR TOURNAY.

3d. Lieut. Seebach, of New York. 4th. M. Mantin, Esq., of New York.

3d. Lieut. Seebach, of New York.

4th. M. Mantin, Esq., of New York.

Messrs. Horner and Solomons are contending for the principal prizes in the latter match, and seem pretty evenly balanced, each having won once and made a draw. We judge that the winner will only have the advantage of one game over his opponent at the conclusion.

Messrs. Morphy and Paulsen have played three games in the fourth section of the Grand Tournay, and, as the contest progresses between these two chess giants, the interest daily increases. Many of our most eminent citizens are now daily frequenting Descombes's Rooms, and the hall becomes crowded toward nightfall, more especially around the board of the two above-mentioned gentlemen. From the commercement of the tournament, Messrs. Morphy and Paulsen have been singled out as the competitors for first and second prizes, and great anxiety was shown at every successive draw for opponents, lest they should be thrown together before the last section, in which case one of them would necessarily lose both first and second honors. But fate decreed otherwise in a most sensible manner, and the two champions went through the various grades as follows:

Morphy, 3 games against Thompson......0
Paulsen, 3 games against Calthrop.....0 SECOND SECTION.

THIRD SECTION.

Morphy, 3 games against Lichtenhein......0

Paulsen, 3 games against Raphael.....0

One Draw.

It will be perceived that both gentlemen have made exactly similar performances, each having an approach to a bar sinister on his escutcheon, in the shape of drawn games, and both of these occurred in the same section. They played their first game together on Thursday morning, Mr. Morphy having the advantage of attack, which he retained throughout the contest, winning the affair in brilliant style after four hour's struggle. A number of strangers and others assembled at nightfall to witness the second game, Mr. Paulsen having the first move. He played the Ruy Lopez opening, but with an almost fatal result to himself, as will be perc. ived by the following. Mr. Morphy, though so young, an almost fatal result to himself, as will be perc. Ived by the following. Mr. Morphy, though so young, possesses an intuitive knowledge of all the openings and defenses to them on the board, and a power of wresting the attack from his adversary, combined with rapidity of thought and execution perhaps greater than that of any living player. A flaw in Mr. Paulsen's attack afforded him the opportunity of effecting a most masterly combination, by which his opponent would have been forcibly check-mated in a dozen moves. To bring about this desired rein a dozen moves. To bring about this desired result, he made the sacrifice of one of his principal picces. But by an error to which all are liable, he picces. But by an error to which all are liable, he played what should have been his sixth move before his fifth, which enabled Mr. Paul en to interross an obstacle to his further approach, and to gain the advantage both in pieces and position. After continuing the struggle during five and a half hours, the game was adjourned until the following day, Mr. Paulsen believing he could now gain it—an opinion endorsed by every leading player in the room; Mr. Morphy, however, decliring he could succeed in drawing it. The battle was continued next day from 11 s. m. to 4:30 P. M., and, in the evening, from 7 o'clock until 9—in all 13 hours—when, as Mr. Morphy had foreseeu, it resulted in a draw. The Morphy had foreseeu, it resulted in a draw. The third game commenced on Saturday morning and lasted 7 hours, Mr. Paulsen having the first move and playing the same opening by which he was in such imminent danger of defeat in the previous game. Within the first dozen moves, his antigo-nist had directed a fearful attack on the position of nist had directed a fearful attack on the position of his king, but, by a most beautiful series of manœu-vers, Mr. Paulsen drove him back, without the loss of a piece or pawn, regained every advantage, and adjourned what appeared the better game of the two until the evening. At the end of two hours Mr. Paulsen became the winner, Mr. Morphy magnani-mously declaring that he had perfectly out-played him.

With regard to the final result, Mr. Paulsen states his belief that Mr. Morphy will beat him. He asserts that the latter gentleman is superior to all living players in everything that constitutes a thorough master of the art of chess, whether it be in knowling days of comings, gambits and defenses in intuitive. master of the art of chess, whether it be in knowledge of openings, gambits and defenses, in intuitive perception, or in correctness of analysis, and the equal of any in those first requisites of a player, nerve and coolness. He goes even further, declaring him to be more than equal to the Dut penates of the chess world—Philidor, Labourdonnais, Deschappelles, McDonnell, and others—basing his belief upon their published games; certainly the only criterion by which it is possible to institute any comparison. Coming from such a source, this is "an opinion as is an opinion," and one which we believe will be indorsed by the "chess magnates of the Old World.

A magnificent testimonial will be presented to Mr. Paulsen on that occasion, to mark the appreciation of the Congress of that gentleman's unparalleled feat of playing five blindfold games of chess simultaneously.

EXTRAORDINARY MURDER IN SPAIN .- The Madrid papers give the following account or a horrible affair:

A young couple, belonging to somewhat wealthy families of Monte del Marques in the province of Valladohd, were a few days ago married and their parents gave a grand feast, to which, in accordance with the custom of the country, any one was free to go. When the festivity was at its height, a man belonging to the village stalked into the house, and, after grossly insulting the bridegroom, told the brides she ought not to marry, as she had had intimate relations with him. This created great scandal, and he was turned out of the house. An hour after, as the bride, accompanied by her mother, brother, and some female friends, was proceeding to a house which was prepared for her and her husband, the man suddenly rushed on her from a corner of a street, and stabbed her twice with a poniard in the breast—she fell dead. Her brother rushed on the assassin, but he broke from him, stabbed him twice with the poniard, and took to flight. The wounds were found to be very grave, and the next day the young man died. The assassin was subsequently arrested; he manifested savage joy at what he had done. quently arrested; he manifested savage joy at what he had done.

The Michigan City Enterprise tells of a man med McDonnell who died suddenly in that place on Tuesday last. The history of his family is a melancholy one:

The Great Chess March.—The New York Tribune, of Tuesday, says:

The fourth game of the match between Messrs,

More Murders .- A horrible affair occurred last

More Murders.—A horrible affair occurred last week in Iowa. The Stoughton (Wisconsin) Independent has a leter describing it. Mr. Adams, editor of the Ware County Sentinel, was married a short time since to a Miss Jenkins, who had previously been engaged to another man by the name of Harley. Harley, on the morning of the wedding day, had threatened Miss Jenkins with revenge if she persisted in marrying his rival. On the 16th of September, Harley came to Adams's house while the latter was absent with his wife, and finding it only occupied by an old negro woman, knocked her down latter was absent with his wife, and finding it only occupied by an old negro woman, knocked her down with an ax, fracturing her skull, and then proceeded to demolish all the furniture and disfigure the premises. The next morning Adams armed himself with a rifle and a knife and went in search of Harley. He had not far to go, for about one hundred yards from the house, on the road which passes through a strip of woods, he met Harley, apparently proceeding to complete his work of destruction. A farmer's boy, who happened to be a short proceeding to complete his work of destruc-tion. A farmer's boy, who happened to be a short distance behind, was the sole witness of the dread-ful scene that ensued, and which froze his blood with terror. A short but violent conversation com-menced between the two, when Adams discharged his rifle, only wounding Harley in the arm. Har-ley, a large, athletic man, then closed with him, and a terrible conflict followed. Adams at last re-ceived a fatal blow from his antagonist's knife, and Harley, though cut almost to pieces, raised the ceived a fatal blow from his antagonist's knite, and Harley, though cut almost to pieces, raised the dead body, with the knife still sticking in his upright breast, and carried it into the presence of Mrs. Adams. The boy followed mechanically to see the denouement, too frightened to summon assistance, and too weak to give it himself. Mrs. Adams received the murderer with a shriek, and fell fainting upon the corpse. Harley had still strength enough to draw the knife, and, cutting her features until not a lineament was recognizable, plunged it nntil not a lineament was recognizable, plunged it into his own heart, and fell back, his hand still grasping the hair of his victim. The boy at last sufficiently recovered himself to run for aid. When it came, both men were dead and Mrs. Adams insensible, having almost bled to death.

"PUT IT THBOUGH."-In one of the express offices in this city the other day, the agent having been often appoyed by some one about his premises sampling the contents of kegs or demijohns containing wine or liquor, which the company had undertaken to forward, determined to set a trap for the offender. Accordingly he got Dr. — to so medicate a demijohn of wine (which he had purchased for the purpose) as to make those who should drink it very sick at the stomach. This done he addressed it to some pose) as to make those who should drink it very sick at the stomach. This done, he addressed it to some name in Boston, labelled it, marked it to be "Put through with care." and set it with the day's freight. It was soon espied by the depredator for whom the trap had been laid, and it was not long before he managed to get a good swig at it. He was caught in the act by another clerk, and had to compound for it by letting him take a pull at it, also. The latter communicated the pleasing intelligence to others, and as they all had been working hard and stood in need of refreshments, and it was rather a good joke than otherwise, and the company was amply able to pay for it, they all took a drink. The original drinker by right of discovery drank two or three times, er by right of discovery drank two or three times, and presently a sicker man than he was you never did see than he was. He was not alone in his misery, but he had the worst of it. The emetic operated with more or less violence upon several persons, and a very ludicrous picture—or, rather, a whole gallery of pictures—they presented. In all probabilities the contents of wine bottles in transita throughout the office will be entirely safe hereafter .- New York Tri-exhibites tute, says:

"In noticing medicines we are always extrement of the cautious unless satisfied of the merits of the cale. Among those exhibited is the celebrated hand Bitters. This medicine has been extensionable of the cause of th land Bitters. This medicine has been extensively introduced into every State in the Union, and into the Cauadian Provinces, principally within the last two years. The exhibition shows testimonials in every language known in America, among which we notice one from the late Hon, John M. Clavton, of Delaware."

Fourth Volume of Debates of Congress
THE ABRIDGEMET OF THE DEBATES OF CON.
GRESS, or the Political History of the Universitates from the original Documents. Edited by Col. Thomas Benton. In 15 large octave volumes of about 750 two-colmun pages.

Benton. In 15 large octave volumes or about 750 two-col-num pages.

This work has now reached the fourth volume, and is civing great satisfaction among all classes. It will contain the wi-dom of Congress for seventy years, and will be an invaluable part of the history of the country. It is of na-tional interest, and one of the most valuable compendiums for public and private libraries ever issued. The work re-alizes a desideratum long felt, and of all others, for the political history of the Government, most wanted. Its wide range of characters, each one speaking for himself and representing his own party, and its far stretch of time, make it of the greatest value to the nation. The indexing is very complete, so that any name or subject decired may be found in either volume at once.

Terms.—The work is publishing exclusively by subscription, and the volumes are issued at intervals of from 2 to months. In cloth binding at §3, law sheep §3 50- half moreces §4; half calf extra §4 56; each volume payable as de livered. The agents for Louisville are CRUMP & WELSH, 028 j&b. 84 Fourth st., near Mark Carried the U. S. mail both ways.

The Allegheny will leave Cairo for New Orleans on Friday evening.

THE SWISS TREATY .- In a late He brew convention held in Baltimore the recent treaty between the United States and Switzerland was a prominent subject of discussion. Before adjourning, a committee was appointed to draw up a memorial to the President of the United States and present it in person. The duty has been performed, and the following statement in the Baltimore Sun presents the result of the proceeding:

The Swiss Treaty Question.—Pursuant to a call for a national convention of Israelites, to consider what steps to take in reference to the treaty between the United States and the Swiss Confederation, the delegates from various States of the Union met at Baltimore, Md., on Wednesday, the 28th October, and, after due deliberation, adopted a memorial setting forth their grievances, and resolved to present the same to the President of the United States.

Notice being given of their object, the President appointed the 31st of October, at 1 o'clock P. M., for their reception, when they were presented in a body by Hon. Ph. Phillips, of Alabama, in an eloquent and dignified address to the Executive. After listening to the views and objects expressed, and receiving the memorial, the President viewed at some length the principle involved in that treaty, expressed his conviction that the treaty, would never have received the approval of his predecessor had it been understood in its present effect, and equivocally promised a speedy and energetic course of action with a view to a remedy not inconsistent with international faith.

We feel satisfied that the Israelites of the United States may place implicit confidence in the Executive, and that their rights as citizens of the United States will be zealously maintained.

We publish these facts in the discharge of our duties as delegates, with the request to our coreli-gionists to abstain from further agitation on the sub-

MURDEROUS FORAY IN NEW ORLEANS .- We copy the following from the New Orleans True Delta of the evening of the 28th:

At 9 o'clock last night some fifteen men suddenly appeared on St. Thomas street, between Melicerte and Terpsichore, divided in three different squads, one of which passed down the middle of the street and one on each sidewalk. The faces of all were either blackened or masked, and they were armed with pistols, knives, and slung-shot. They rushed down the street, assailing every man who was out of doors, and hurling the women from the sidewalk into the gutters. They were all clad in dark coats.

or doors, and nuring the women from the sidewalk into the gutters. They were all clad in dark coats, and none of them spoke aloud, all communication between themselves being in a low, muttered tone. Thomas Donahue, a lame man, who was sitting in a bench in front of Mrs. Kenailty's family grocerystore, was first attacked, stabbed in the left breast with a distributed by the bench decided with with a dirk, and his head dreadfully beaten with

Not mortally wounded, then rushed into the family grocery store of Peter Rhoda, where quite a number of men were sitting inside and upon the bench at the door, and commenced a general stabbing, beating, and shooting.

John Eagan, a drayman, was stabbed several times, twice through the breast, dying of his wounds

John Colbert's skull was fractured by blows from a slung-shot, and was stabled twice, in the thigh and in the small of the back, the latter wound of a most desperate character.

Richard Coleman, drayman, was dangerously cut in the breast and severely beaten about the head.

Branagan, a laborer was knocked down by a large one which one of the ruffians held in his hand and ith which he was struck in the face, and then stabbed severely.

James Smith, drayman, was knocked down by a blow from a slung-shot and kicked.
Riley, a laborer, received a severe contusion of the skull from the blow of a slung-shot.
John Devaughn, drayman, was shockingly beat about the head with clubs and slung shot.

James Murphy, a boss drayman, was severely beaten with slung-shot and clubs, and is desparate-

After doing their work of indiscriminate assault and nurder on St. Thomas street, so suddenly and in such overpowering force that not the slighest reistance was or could be made, this band of "mid-night assassins" passed into Tchoupitoulas and New Levee streets, where they committed various as-saults, though no one was dangerously wounded. All the parties attacked were Irishmen.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4. 8 o'clook, P. M.—The election passed off more quietly during the latter part of the day than was expected, though there has been a good deal of disorder and some bloodshed.

order and some bloodshed.

The parties who were shot in the Seventeenth ward, as mentioned in a previous dispatch, are not dead, but both seriously if not fatally wounded.

Another man was shot near the Fourth ward polls this evening; the wound may prove fatal.

The police have captured a large quantity of arms.

9 o'clock, P. M.—Americans are now marching the streets with music and transparencies, and firing gun's and pistols, with shouts of victory. They claim the triumph of the whole ticket. Scattering returns which have been received indicate a gain on Fillmore's vote, whose majority was 7,000. It will be quite midnight before complete returns from any of the wards will be received.

George J. Henkles, Walnut street, this morning distributed 550 loaves of bread to the poor, from the rear of his store on Adelphi street. There were many more applicants than could be supplied with the bread provided, and the great mass were of course, wrecthed paupers who live by begging at all times; but there were many persons who were evidently driven to seek relief by real want. During the distribution a wealthy gentleman, who was present, authorized Mr. Henkels to distribute 500 loaves weekly, during the winter, upon his account.

COUNTRY MERCHANTS will please bear in mind that everythine new and at all desirable in the Hat and Cap line can be had of HAYES, CRAIG, & CO., on as good terms as in any Eastern City.

A RATHER SINGULAR CASE.—We have already alluded to the suit instituted in one of the New York courts by a Mr. Furniss, to obtain a writ of habeas corpus for Mrs. Woodman, who is confined in a private lunatic asylum on Long Islan. Mrs. W. was placed there by her husband, who is a wholesale druggist in New Orleans. His reason for so doieg was, improper intimecy with Furniss. On the trial, Mr. Burteed, an attorney, read two letters written by Mrs. Woodman to Furniss. The following is their substance:

The letters were inscribed to "My dear Babie; The letters were inscribed to "My dear Babic;" the first alleged that she had written, in New York, once or twice before to Furniss, but received no answer, since which her husband had placed her in the Innatic asylum, as he told her, for revenge. That he would do all he could to make her miserable and to injure Furniss. That he would not permit her to see her brother in New York, nor let her write to any of her family. That if she had not thought it would please her husband she would have gone mad. She adds: 'Oh! for God's sake, Babie, help me to get away." She then calls on "Babie" to assist her to get out, and tells him how he can do it. She wishes to die at home with her dear mamma; feels her to get out, and tells him now he can do it. She wishes to die at home with her dear mamma; feels miserable; pines for familiar faces; says that when she first came she almost starved herself to-death, but is now determined to live for revenge. Again she asks "Babie's" assistance, as her last hope, and concludes by expressing her wish that he (Babie) will sometimes thick of one who can but wish she may still be his (Babie's) may still be his (Babie's). may still be his (Babie's).

From the other letter it appears that she had a reply from "Babie." She says that, night after night she dreams she is with him (Babie), and asks him if he will ever get married. "O, non Deul' I can see you now, just as you always looked when you said, 'Who loves Babie?'" She concludes with "a thousand of kisses," and begs him again to get her away.

The reading of the letters seemed to be very interesting to the crowd in the court-room. Some conversation followed between the judge and counsel, and the case was adjourned until Monday, at 12 o'-

Washington, Nov. 1, 1857.
The rumor that the Administration have censured

The rumor that the Administration have censured Gov. Walker's course in rejecting the illegal votes of Oxford district, in Johnson county, has produced some agitation at the North. Whether true or not, it will exert a most unfavorable influence upon the State election in New York, where the Democracy anticipate a triumph over Black Republicanism. The fact appears to be that the subject of General Walker's proclamation was considered last week in Cabinet council, and that it was held in their opinion that it belonged to the Territorial Legislature to judge of the validity of the election, and not to the Governor. It is understood, also, that the subject is again to be considered in the Cabinet after the return of Governor Floyd, who was expected to arturn of Governor Floyd, who was expected to arrive here last night. If Gov. Walker is to be censured or dismissed—and the former will be equivalent to the latter—it will not be without a hearing. His own explanations of his conduct must first be heard.

About a week ago dispatches were received by the government from Governor Walker in relation to his official conduct up to that date, and his vindication is said to have been ample and satisfactory. It is said, however, that he requested that the United States troops should be retained in the Territory this winter, and an order to that effect has been given. This shows that quiet in the Territory is not to be expected, whether one or the other party may triumph. The free State leaders ere evidently bent upon mischief. They act in conformity with direcupon mischief. They act in conformity with directions from their compatriots in the North, and the main object is to retain the Kansas issue for the next Presidential election. The Kansas policy of the administration will be a leading question of discussion in the next Congress, and, in relation to it, the Southern members will be divided.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Nov. 3, 1857. To James Kurkpatrick, Esq., Cluef of Police: You will cause each Marketmaster to be notified that no person, male or female, living in the city of Louisville, has the right to do business in the markets, or to buy or sell market articles in the city limits either with or without a license. All such persons as either with or without a license. All such persons are forestallers, regraters, or engros-ers, and liable to be fined. If any person living in the city go into the country and buy market articles not coming to market, such person has the right to sell in market (to consumers, not to persons to sell again) or in the city after market hours, as though he lived in the country, without a license. A buckster is a retail country, without a license. A huckster is a retail merchant, doing business under a license, and has no more right in the markets or spaces than a retail grocer or any other retailer living in the city. This thing of buying and selling market articles m the city limits on speculation must be discontinued. No person so doing can be the renter of a stall in the markets. It is illegal. The corporation has no power to authorise it. The Marketmasters are in-The Marketinasters are instructed to clear the markets of all such persons.

That they claim under a license or as a stall renter is no excuse. The Police force and the License Inspector are charged to be aiding and assisting the Marketinasters in this behalf.
